

I Ran Into An Old Flame Today

(Verse 1)

I ran into an old flame today
In the crowded street where time slipped away
Her smile has that spark, her laugh is just the same
We spoke about the good times and the pain
We reminisced under the stars, holding hands counting our scars
She said she's happy with her life so far

(Chorus)

I ran into an old flame today
Memories ignited thoughts from yesterday
Our hearts were intertwined caught in love's refrain
We were dancing to the rhythm of the rain
A fleeting moment with nothing to gain

(Verse 2)

She walked away. I had to let her go
A bittersweet echo, of love we used to know
I felt a warmth, but left it all behind
I know I'll never get her off my mind
Time may heal, but some flames never fade
They linger in the heart, like a serenade

(Chorus)

I ran into an old flame today
Memories ignited thoughts from yesterday
Our hearts were intertwined caught in love's refrain
We were dancing to the rhythm of the rain
A fleeting moment with nothing to gain
