

When Love Is Tired

(Verse 1)

We used to speak in glances, finish every line
Now silence fills the space where your hand once held mine
We sit at the table, pretending to carry on
You're right here beside me, but all warmth is gone

(Chorus)

I don't know how to talk to you anymore
The words fall heavy, not like they did before
We circle back to what we can't restore
I'm speaking of a love that is no more

(Verse 2)

We dance around questions, careful not to fall
Tiptoe through memories hanging on the wall
I say I'm fine, you nod like you agree
But we both know we're lying through our teeth

(Chorus)

I don't know how to talk to you anymore
The words fall heavy, not like they did before
We circle back to what we can't restore
I'm speaking of a love that is no more

(Bridge)

When love is tired, it doesn't shout
It just fades into the quiet sound
No slamming doors, no final fight
Just two hearts dimming out the light

(Final Chorus)

I don't know how to talk to you anymore
Every word feels like a closing door
We used to dream, now we just endure
I'm reaching for someone I don't know anymore
