

Their Love Story

[Verse 1]

They met when the world was younger,
Two hearts learning how to be.
Life carried them down different pathways,
And love stayed a memory.
She raised her boys with quiet courage,
He wandered through restless years
But somewhere a spark kept glowing,
Living through the long, quiet days.

[Verse 2]

Time has a way of returning
What the heart refuses to forget.
One message, one unexpected moment,
And suddenly their stars reset.
They talked like they'd never parted,
Old laughter rushing back again
Two souls recognizing each other
Like a story meant to begin.

[Chorus]

This was their love story
A second chance whispered by fate.
Two roads finally crossing
After arriving a little bit late.
He called her his forever,
She felt it in every embrace
But love is fragile beauty,
And life can change without a trace.

[Verse 3]

They danced in the kitchen often,
Bare feet on a cool tile floor.
He'd spin her just to hear her laugh,
Then pull her close once more.
Morning coffee, quiet music,
Plans they hadn't yet made
Believing they had endless chapters,
A place where love should have stayed.

[Bridge]

She reaches for him in the darkness,
Still hears his voice in every song.
Love doesn't end with breathing
It stays when the body's gone.
His kindness lives in the children,
His warmth in every dawn.
And she carries their story forward
Where his memory still lives on.

[Final Chorus]

This was their love story
A flame that refused to die.
A reunion written softly
By a patient, watching sky.
He left in a single moment,
But love stayed where he stood.
Their story lives forever
In every heartbeat, every whisper,
Every echo of the good.
